We're improving access to healthcare for the entire region through the construction of a $536 million regional medical center on the Parkview North Campus in Fort Wayne. Through physician partnerships, Parkview is making it possible for patients to get diagnostic imaging, laboratory tests, physician's office visits, treatments and pharmacy services all on the same campus. With multiple points of entry, the nine-story facility will feature specialty centers geared toward specific healthcare needs, including heart, cancer, neurology, women's and children's health and orthopaedics.

More than just a hospital, the Parkview Regional Medical Center will be a destination of healing for families. Low sound and light levels will create calming and healing influences. Elements of nature, including stone, water and natural light, will bring the outdoors in, and encourage patients and families to move to usable outdoor space as weather and health permits. Private, intimate gathering spaces both inside and out will invite quiet conversations and contemplation. On the same campus, families with children can unleash their energies in the new 27-acre family park.
